Large Sample Prediction Intervals for Future Sample Measures of Location

By

Ahmad Mousa Dawagreh
B.SC. (Mathematics)
Yarmouk University
1980

Thesis submitted in partial fulfillment of the requirements of the degree of Master of Science (Statistics) at Yarmouk University.

Thesis Defence Committee

Dr. Muhammad S. Ahmed
Dr. Muhammad S. Abu-Salih
Dr. Ulug Capar

Chairman
Member
Member
Abstract

In this thesis large sample methods for finding approximate prediction intervals for future sample location measures are discussed. The methods are illustrated by examples from population having gamma, uniform, cauchy or Pareto distribution.